Relevant Remuneration

I, my employer and/or my principal may receive remuneration for the financial adviser services that I provide to you. Once I have analysed your situation and I am in a position to provide recommendations to you, I will provide you with further details on this remuneration including the amount or rate of such remuneration (to the extent practicable), the name of the person to whom the remuneration has or will be received together with details of any arrangements I have in place to manage any conflict of interest arising from such remuneration.

Other non-cash rewards or benefits

Depending on the total volume of business I place with a particular product provider, I may receive from that product provider, invitations to conferences, hosted entertainment events, corporate gifts, professional training and marketing support. Product providers may also from time to time offer sales incentive competitions, with rewards such as gifts, travel and conferences. Whether or not I will receive non-cash rewards and benefits such as those outlined above, and the value of such rewards or benefits is not known to me at this time, and I will not know whether I am entitled to such rewards or benefits until some time after I have provided the financial adviser service to you. Whether or not I receive such non-cash rewards and benefits, such as those outlined above, and the value of such rewards or benefits, is not dependent on the financial adviser service I provide to you. Instead, these rewards and benefits are based on the collective business I generate for that product provider.

Arrangements to manage any conflict of interest arising

The following arrangements assist me in avoiding or managing any conflicts of interest that may arise in respect of my provision of financial adviser services:

- As an Authorised Financial Adviser I am legally obliged to place the interests of my clients first and only recommend financial products that are suitable for you.

- I am obliged to disclose any perceived or potential conflicts of interests to you before providing you with financial adviser services.
- I do not have prescribed quotas or other such arrangements that require a minimum proportion of sales be placed with a particular product provider.
